

The results are in

And we're very proud of our little prodigy.

When we introduced the Defender Safety System™, our FVIR water heater, we made a lot of claims about performance, convenience and features. It's so gratifying to look back and see that everything we promised was absolutely true.

The new design didn't effect the dimensions of our water heaters. This makes replacement an easy job. Service calls pertaining to the new design are virtually non-existent. More importantly, we haven't altered capacities for the new technology.

The features we provided, including a pedestal base, a resettable thermal switch, a combustion chamber sight window and a Piezo Igniter have joined the ranks of such proven winners as the Hydrojet® Total Performance System and our exclusive Vitraglas® lining.

While we're proud we kept our word regarding the Defender, there's one Bradford White feature that stands far above the rest. All Bradford White products are available only to plumbing professionals. We remain a company that is engineered for the trade.

What's next from Bradford White? Get ready for more. Soon we will incorporate Defender technology into additional models. We can't imagine anything but straight "A's."
